Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 28 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain at first, drier later.

Today:
Rain across the southern half of the area to start the day, gradually becoming lighter before easing early afternoon. Likely to stay cloudy with some isolated showers, until these also die away late afternoon. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy overnight, possibly with some fog over the Lincolnshire Wolds. Showers developing in the early hours of the morning and spreading across the north of the region. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tuesday:
Cloudy with showers towards the north of the region becoming widespread during the morning. Dry with a brief sunny spell this evening before low cloud and drizzle move westwards overnight. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Generally cloudy during the mornings, improving by midday with sunnier spells in the afternoons. Dull with outbreaks of rain and drizzle early Wednesday. Occasional showers on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.